Brian Lane Green Appears in Concert Tower Records - NYC

To celebrate the release of his new CD, Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt, Singer/Songwriter Brian Lane Green will be at the Lincoln Center Tower Records on Wednesday, March 1 at 6pm. This In-store concert and CD signing promises to be a highlight of Towers Records' "Any Wednesday" concert series.

Recently named "One of the Top Ten Cabaret Albums of 2005" Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt (LML) has been garnering glowing reviews:

This surprise disc...is a winner. Story songs [sung] with a heartbreaking honesty that comes right from the heart from a master at keeping it real." – John Hoglund, Theatre Scene

"We can never have too many recordings of daring new musical theater works. Anything that can jolt us from the stupor induced by cast albums of dumbed-down, overblown shows and anemic revivals is welcome -- and there is special cause for celebration when a CD as arresting as Brian Lane Green's Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt (LML Music) is released." - Matthew Murray, Talkinbroadway.com

"(The songs) have an undeniable authenticity that makes them unique and universal at the same time." – Gregg Shapiro, Bay Area Reporter and Chicago Free Press

What is most remarkable is the musical sophistication in his catharsis...He never cops for a cute filler lyric, instead each line stands up as resonating poetry." - Anne Kerry Ford, singer, actress, and host of "Great Singers, Great Songs" www.sunsetstrip.com

"The songs, especially as sung from the gut by their author...concern big feelings - anguish, loss, love, and self-acceptance...The singer has a big, powerful voice but he uses it to bring out the text, not to show off and impress. But impress he does." – Rob Lester, Talkin' Broadway

- Brian performed selections from “Glaciers” at the ASCAP Songwriter’s Showcase on November 9th in New York City.
- United Airlines is currently featuring selections from “Glaciers” as part of their in-flight programming.
- “Glaciers” was the Queery.com Featured Music Pick in October 2005.

“Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt” is a soul-filled musical autobiography from actor, singer, Brian Lane Green. Originally written as a musical and first produced on stage at the Midtown International Theater Festival (NYC), the music has been revisited and re-shaped for this incarnation. Producer Johnny Rodgers and the Johnny Rodgers Band deliver an eclectic blend of styles, always staying true to Brian’s southern roots.

Green has worn many monikers - Soap star, Tony® Award nominated Broadway star, and critically acclaimed recording artist. Now songwriter Green becomes a man with a mission. He takes the listener on a journey from growing up in the hills of Tennessee, through the spectrum of emotion that accompanies a life lived: fear, isolation, joy, and ultimately peace.

This second solo CD is his first as singer/songwriter. Brian’s previous CD, Brian Lane Green, and his new release are both available online at www.LMLmusic.com, www.BrianLaneGreen.com, www.Amazon.com, and in stores everywhere.
