

Brian Lane Green Performs at Tower Records, March 1

by BWW News Desk

To celebrate the release of his new CD, "Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt," singer/songwriter Brian Lane Green will perform at the Lincoln Center Tower Records on Wednesday, March 1 at 6pm. The in-store concert and CD signing will be presented as part of Towers Records' "Any Wednesday" concert series.

Recently named "One of the Top Ten Cabaret Albums of 2005" "Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt" (LML) has received praise from critics. Green performed selections from Glaciers at the ASCAP Songwriter's Showcase on November 9th in New York City, and United Airlines is currently featuring selections from "Glaciers" as part of their in-flight programming. In addition, "Glaciers" was the Queery.com Featured Music Pick in October 2005.

"'Waiting for the Glaciers to Melt' is a soul-filled musical autobiography from actor, singer, Brian Lane Green. Originally written as a musical and first produced on stage at the Midtown International Theater Festival (NYC), the music has been revisited and re-shaped for this incarnation. Producer Johnny Rodgers and the Johnny Rodgers Band deliver an eclectic blend of styles, always staying true to Brian's southern roots," state press notes.

Green has made his name as a soap star ("Days of Our Lives," "All My Children"), a Tony Award-nominated Broadway star who appeared in The Life, Starmites, and Big River, and a critically acclaimed recording artist. "Now songwriter Green becomes a man with a mission. He takes the listener on a journey from growing up in the hills of Tennessee, through the spectrum of emotion that accompanies a life lived: fear, isolation, joy, and ultimately peace."

This second solo CD is his first as singer/songwriter. His previous CD Brian Lane Green and his new release are both available online at www.LMLmusic.com, www.BrianLaneGreen.com, www.Amazon.com, and in stores everywhere.
